

Does pan-Blue media raise KMT support at every identity level?

Above zero = persuasion. Below zero = backfire.

The US analysis found monotonic effects throughout: left-leaning media raised Democratic support at every engagement level. Kao (2026) documents experimental backfire among PRC-skeptics. Negative bars among strong-Taiwanese-identity respondents would be a genuine cross-national divergence rather than a replication.